Yogini Ekadashi Vrat Katha

In pristine times, a landscape gardener named Hem lived at the place of King Kuber in the city of Alkapuri. His job was to bring flowers daily from Mansarovar for worshipping Lord Shiva. One day, he got a bit late to bring flowers as he spends too much time with his wife. He arrived late at gathering. As a result, Kuber got annoyed and cursed him to be a leper. Getting affect from the curse, he wanders around and luckily one day, reached the hermitage (Ashram) of Markandeya Rishi. Using his powers, Rishi found out the reason for his situation and told him to do the Yogini Ekadashi Vrat. With the impact of the fast, Hem's leprosy ended and he attained salvation.
